About Dogs!

General Synopsis for Episode #1301

This edition of Pets.tv focuses on six popular breeds of dogs. Host Christina Dietz and Gigi introduces the audience to pet owners and experts of each breed that share history, informative facts, and health and care considerations about each dog. Viewers see the dogs in action as they learn about personality traits and the ideal home environment. The first dog breed introduced is the Shar-Pei. This medium sized dog is known for its multiple layered wrinkles and hippopotamus shaped muzzle. This breed is known for being loyal and loving and whose history dates back to the Han Dynasty in 200 BC. The Yorkshire Terrier called the 'Yorkie' is smart and easy to train. It is a popular tiny dog that can have a long-life span and can live anywhere due to its size. The large muscular Bulldog looks tough but is a friendly dog that is good with kids and older people. This breed can tend to be overweight and needs a good diet and with exercise. The Poodle is popular for their good looks and people with allergies. These intelligent, loving and loyal dogs need more grooming than most dogs since they do not shed. The Boxer is a favorite breed that came from Germany in the 19th century. They use their paws like boxing gloves. These high-energy dogs have great personalities. The German Shepherd is the most popular dog always making the top 10 breeders' list. These smart dogs are known mostly as police, bomb sniffing or rescue dogs and are protective and loyal.
